#Feed DC's Backpack Drive August 24th At Rose Bar DC

(Washington) - #FeedDC looks to give back right in our backyard and Martin Luther King Jr. Elementary is a more than a deserving school who is committed to their students. On Saturday, August 24th at 4:00 p.m. at Rose Bar DC (1215 Connecticut Ave Nw) we will be collecting backpacks and donations for 450 kids. With the help from the community, the students' educational experience will be greatly enriched and will provide a stable foundation for their future endeavors and studies.

The kids at Martin Luther King Jr. Elementary school located in S.E. D.C. are full of light. We are incredibly impressed with their passion from dedicated teachers, great classroom atmosphere and overall sense of unity within its community. Unfortunately, many students attending this school are underprivileged and some without homes. These students attend school deprived of critical tools needed for their success: backpacks to basic school supplies. Thus, providing the students a certain consistency will trigger academic success. We hope the community as a whole can help us reach our goal of handing out 450 backpacks.

"These kids are my babies, and I see how inspired they are to learn with the minimal materials we can offer them. Feed DC choosing us to help means a lot to the success of these kids," Martin Luther King Jr. Elementary Principal.

In addition, the principal will then put together an assembly with all 450 students on Friday, September 6th so we can hand out the backpacks.

#FeedDC started with a small group of friends with one intention to give back to the city that helped shape our lives. The motto is no act of kindness is too small and from that, we began with making sandwiches to bagging toiletries and then putting together events to raise awareness for our community. Our goal is to inspire others to come together to create a positive change and spread hope. The movement is empowering and we hope you join us.
