ICON BANK DONATES LOTS TO HOUSTON HABITAT

Icon Bank of Texas recently donated two residential lots to Houston Habitat for Humanity. "We're pleased that Icon can support such a worthy organization in its efforts to make home ownership a reality for hardworking families in this area," said Rand Lassus, Chief Credit Officer for Icon. The adjacent corner lots total 10,000 square feet and are located north of downtown Houston on Evella Street, near Collingsworth and Highway 59.

Houston Habitat Executive Director Algenita Davis said that donations such as Icon's are vital to Habitat's mission of providing affordable, well-built homes to buyers who otherwise might be unable to purchase decent housing. "Habitat is very excited about having another place that can be used to change the quality of life for these families," said Davis.

Icon and Houston Habitat share the common goal of building strong communities. Each of Icon's five banking centers is customized to provide the kind of banking solutions that are important to the area it serves. The banking professionals at Icon are part of the community. They understand the local economy, the business climate and, most importantly, the people. "We hope that Icon can continue to work with Houston Habitat to make a difference in the Houston Metro area," said Lassus.
