Living with an unwanted memory on the skin, whether it be on the face, belly or somewhere else, can be difficult for many reasons. While scars and stretch marks are markers of our lives histories, most would prefer to not go around wearing them on their body. While there are numerous options for scar removal, most are time consuming, require high overhead and invasive to both the body and health, using chemicals or steroids.

Reviewing such laborious options can make someone feel hopeless and angry at the idea of never being able to remove something that is a very real nuisance, resulting in depression and isolation. Fortunately, there are pharmacists out there who have been hard at work at compounding an affordable, yet effective formula readily accessible for individuals in need. Whether your scar is a result of surgery, keloids, acne, stretch marks or accidents, Folsom Pharmacy's newest scar cream has proven to drastically reduce the visibility of unwanted scar tissue.

Folsom pharmacy's scar cream, using a unique combination of silicone and Pracaxi oil, has demonstrated through clinical studies to restore the balance of fibrogenesis and fibrolysis, effectively and safely resulting in a softer and flatter scar. The medical experts at Folsom pharmacy are here to provide a you with treatment.
